What a shadow run is, and is not

READ BEFORE REVIEW

It is

- Your written mandate, run before any capital funds
- Simulated orders, inside the limits you set
- A check that controls work as documented
- Reviewed by you with BettorToken, then signed

It is not

- Capital at risk, or trading on your behalf
- A forecast or a projection of any kind
- A track record, or results of the desk
- An offer, or a commitment by either party

Review and sign-off

COMMENTS _____

Simulated, sample format only. This document shows the format of a shadow run report for The Prime Partnership™ (Institutional Edition) and describes no actual vehicle, partner, mandate or account. All figures are illustrative assumptions, not results, forecasts or projections.

Simulation. A shadow run is simulated and no capital is at risk. Simulated activity is hypothetical: it does not reflect actual fills, liquidity, fees, venue conditions or market impact, and it is not a track record.

Preferred return and risk. The preferred return is a distribution priority payable from settled profits: an order of payments, not a guarantee of return or of capital. Prediction-market trading involves substantial risk, including the risk of total loss. Past performance does not predict future results. BettorToken's records are maintained internally and are not audited or attested by an independent accountant.

Not an offer. This document is not an offer to sell or a solicitation of an offer to buy any security or other instrument. Sign-off records the review only; funding and all terms are governed by definitive documents, which control in all respects. BettorToken Holdings LLC is not registered with the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission or the U.S. Commodity Futures Trading Commission in any capacity.
